pioneering spirit was displayed by Kearny's first students and teachers. During the early years of Kearny, Linda Vista was still being constructed and the living rooms of many private homes served as classrooms.

In 1943, the Kearny Student Body, with its principal, Mr. Taylor, was transferred to the site we now know as Montgomery Junior High.

Ten years later, a beautiful new high school was completed and our second principal, Mr. Carr, along with the tenth, eleventh, and twelfth grade students moved to our present and permanent location on Kearny Mesa.

Many fine additions have come with the past six years, including our fine principal, Mr. Davies, and a large new auditorium and gym.

Last fall Kearny played host to five hundred Clairemont Sophomores, making the tenth grade class the largest in the city, and increasing the campus population to approximately 1400. Just before Thanksgiving, the Clairemont students left. As always, the year has passed quickly and now Kearny will graduate the fine class of 1959.

Space is the theme of this book. We chose space for the theme at the beginning of the school year because we thought that it tied in nicely with the name of the book, Komet. As the months passed, our theme became more and more timely: New satellites took their place in space, and several moonshots missed their mark. The scientists responsible for these wonders have a strong adventurous type—the spirit of the students of Kearny High type—the spirit of the students of Kearny High School.

Principal • Mr. Cleon Davies

Mr. Davies, the principal of Kearny High School is a very good-humored man. Although he is seldom seen without a smile, Mr. Davies is not as care-free as his appearance suggests. His position, as executive on campus, is one of responsibility which demands competence and patience. For this reason, we, the Komets of Kearny, are proud of our principal and the splendid way in which he has fulfilled this job.

I wish that I could thank all of you individually for the many ways in which you have helped to make Kearny a better school.

Since I can't do this, I will just extend a simple thank-you and wish all of you the best of luck and success for your future.

Cleon Davies

Mrs. Karen Wiseman

Known and respected by all students abiding on the Kearny campus, is the girls' Vice-Principal, Mrs. Karen Wiseman. Not only does she sponsor Dianas, set up the school calendar, and keep actions running smoothly, but also spends many hours solving personal problems for the girls. In fulfilling these demands with competence and quality, Mrs. Wiseman has not only won the friendship and admiration of all who know her, but also, the sincere thanks and gratitude for three successful years at Kearny from the 1959 graduating class.

Mr. John Brose

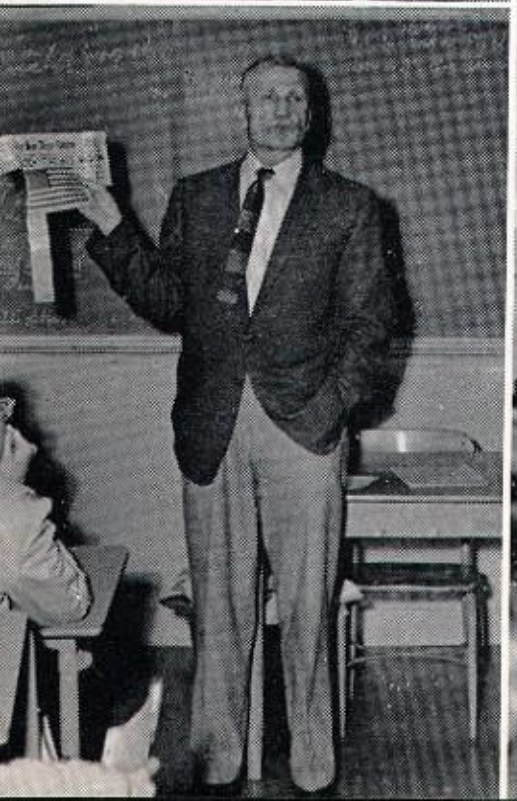

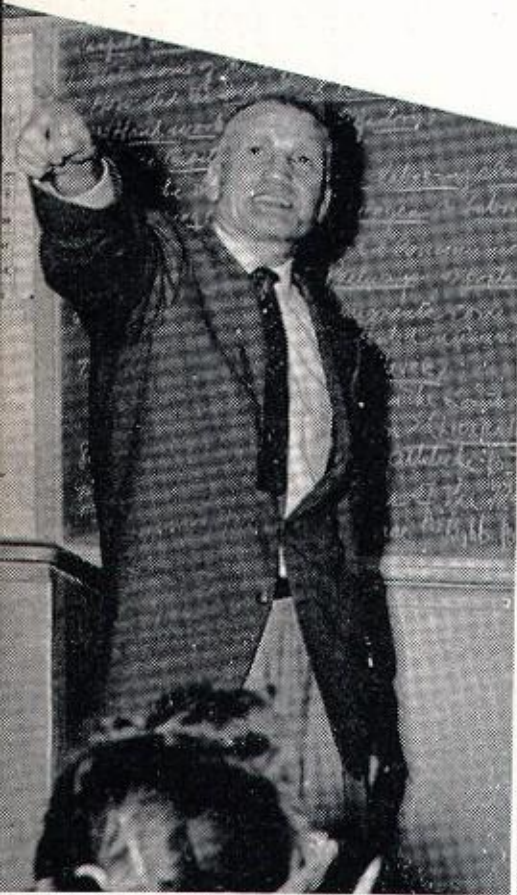

Mr. John Brose, our boys' Vice-Principal, must set an example for all male Komets. Aside from seeing that school regulations are obeyed, and handling difficult situations which arise during the year, he is the manager and organizer of all sports and affiliated activities. A most competent man, Mr. Brose was able to fulfill his job while at the same time, gain respect and friendship of Kearny students.

special recognition

Mr. Paul Deacon

United States History is the specialty of Mr. Paul Deacon, and he has made it come alive for hundreds of Juniors. By means of his unique and interesting teaching methods, he helps the students understand and appreciate our American heritage. He has visited many of the historic shrines discussed in class and he shares his personal enjoyment of them with his students. In addition, Mr. Deacon has become Coach Deacon to the many boys he has trained on the athletic teams in the past. Paul Deacon has contributed much to the friendly spirit of Kearny High School.

Twelve years ago, a certain new teacher came to Kearny. Ordinarily, the arrival of a new teacher is a common event. But it did not take long for the "kids"—as he called the students—to discover that he was more than a teacher. He was a sincere friend and possessed uncommon understanding and a warm sense of humor. This man had become almost legendary—it was he that the entering Sophs heard of first and it was he also who the Alumni sought out when they returned for a visit. Now there is nothing but the legend and the memory, for in mid-year he left to help establish a new high school. The legend is not wrong, for even in memory, Mr. Leonard Fierro is the "biggest little man at Kearny."

Mr. Fierro discusses a problem with Mike Northcutt.

Governing the Senior class in many exciting and memorable activities were the Senior class officers and their hard-working counselors and sponsors. Cooperation between the two, and contribution of much time and effort proved to be well worth their while as it brought the '59 senior class a year never to be forgotten.

komet who's who

The highest scholastic record in the Senior Class was achieved by Ed Dickson, who maintained straight A's throughout his high school career. Always an active member of C.S.F. he served as its vice-president in the spring of '58 and both semesters of his senior year and he received a life membership in the organization. Due to his avid interest in science and active participation in Bi-Chem-Phy another honor came to him when he was elected president of the club in his junior year. His greatest achievement was demonstrated through his untiring efforts to produce the '59 KOMET. As the able Editor-in-Chief of our yearbook, Ed Dickson deserves our highest commendation.

Edward Dickson

Mary Lee Hogan

Canadian born Mary Lee Hogan, highest ranking member of Who's Who, is considered one of the most dependable students at Kearny. Quietly industrious, she has made innumerable contributions to our school in time, effort and accomplishment by completing admirably each job she undertakes.

Serving as president of C.S.F. for both semesters of her senior year, she has also earned her life membership pin. Interested in many school activities, she served well as Copy Editor of the Annual and as a member of the Dianas, Quill and Scroll, K.D.K. Council, and A.S.B. Her hobbies encompass swimming, bowling, and reading Shakespeare. A sincere and gracious girl, Mary Lee plans to enter the field of medicine and become a Physical Therapist.

Who's Who is selected by the faculty and administration of Kearny High School on the basis of individual merit.

Coming to Kearny in his junior year, Curt Fischer is one of the most talented artists ever to attend our school. This artistically endowed student received two art awards before he arrived on our campus and has since been recognized for his outstanding work in the Kearny Art Department.

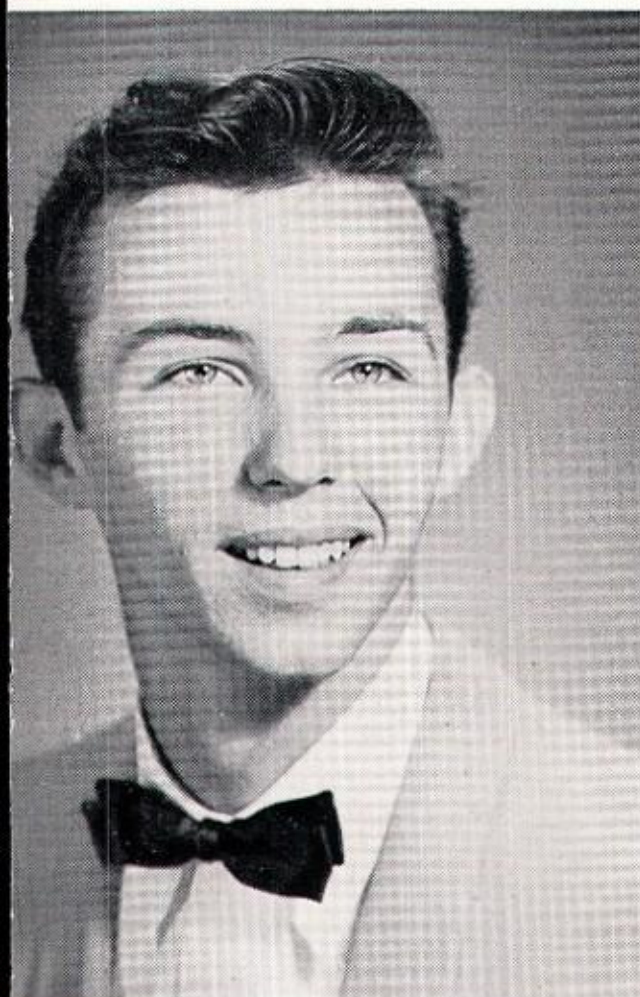

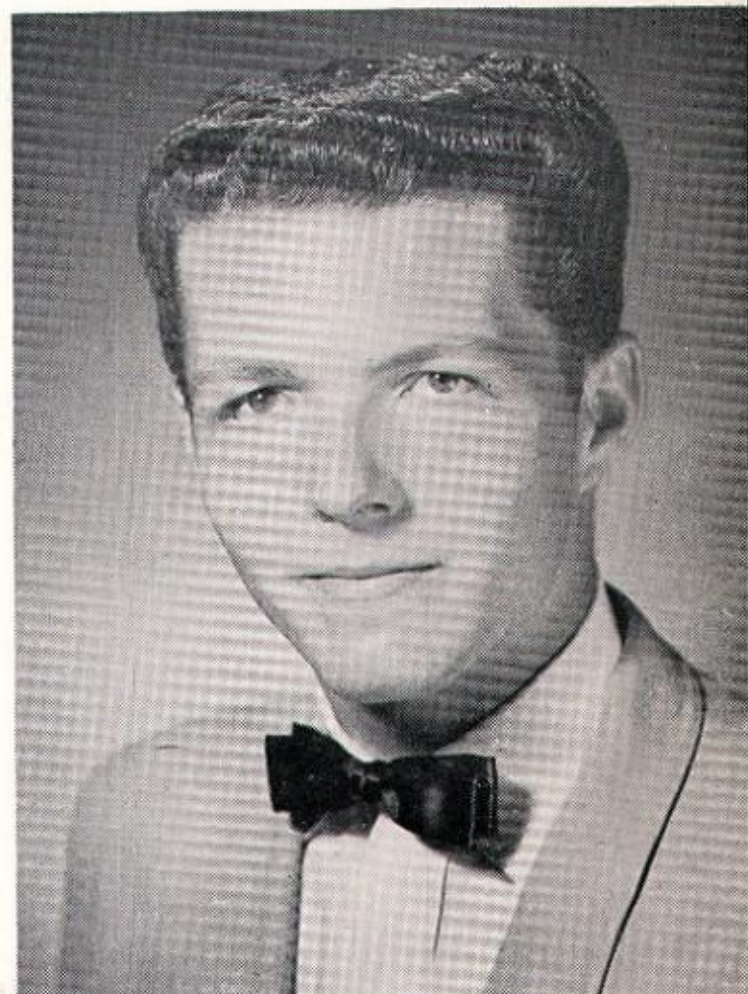

Majoring in English as well as art, he displayed an interest in creative writing and submitted manuscripts to our literary magazine, Scribblers Frolic, and served in many useful capacities as a member of Quill and Scroll.

During the election campaigns in the spring of '58 the entire student body's attention was suddenly focused upon Curt Fischer. Swept to victory, he served as an efficient, courteous, and responsible A.S.B. President, presiding effectively throughout the year at all student body functions.

Sparkling with personality and bubbling with school spirit, Betty Truett has been engrossed in numerous school activities. In her sophomore year she was a member of the Pom Pon Corps and served as Sophomore Representative to the Girls' League and as secretary of Mixed Chorus. The following year she continued her leadership by becoming a song-leader and Jr. Business Editor of the Annual. She also remained on the Girls' League Council. In addition to earning a life membership in C.S.F. in her senior year, this capable and industrious girl was our Head Songleader, Girls' League President, and Business Editor of the Annual.

Socially, Betty graced our school as Queen of the R.O.T.C. Ball and Homecoming attendant, and culminated her role in Job's Daughters as Sr. Princess and Honored Queen.

Michael Lennon

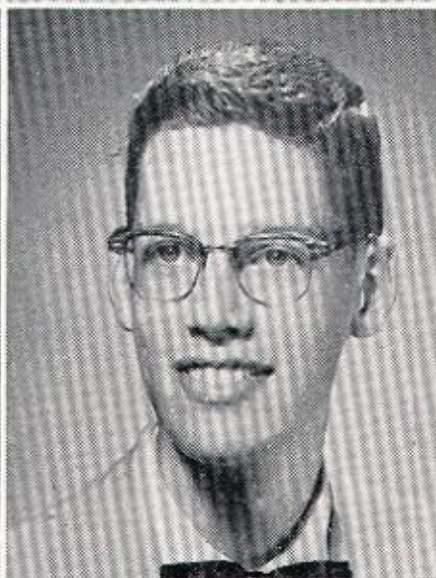

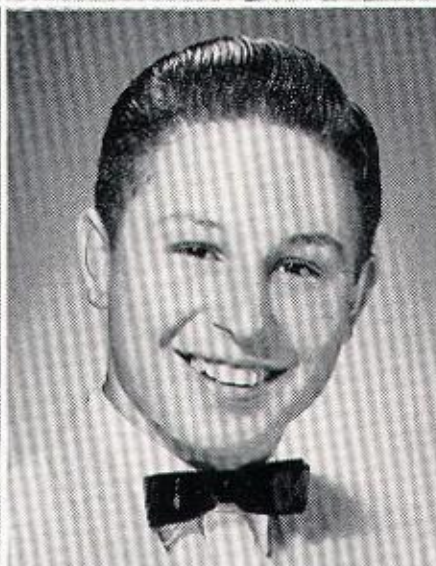

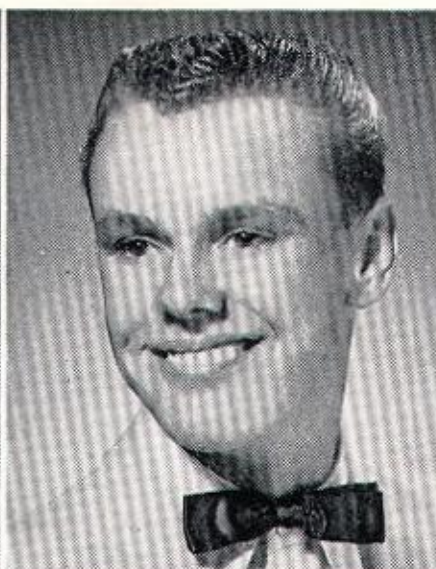

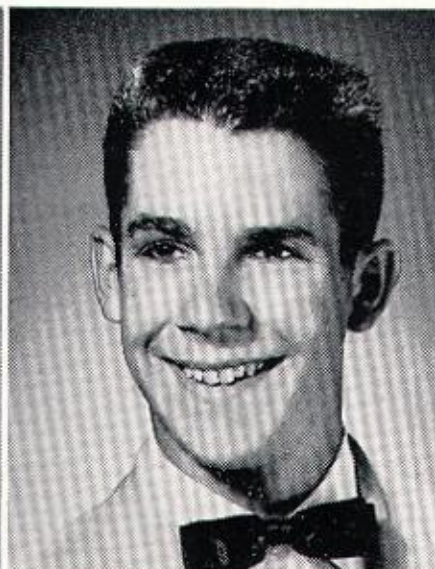

Peppy and full of ambition, our Senior Class Vice-President, Mike Lennon, exhibited a keen interest in school affairs. Since his appointment to the Junior Coke Committee, his boundless enthusiasm for class activities has been displayed by his work on the Cap and Gown Committee and the Senior Council. This year he was elected president of Bi-Chem-Phy, a club offering an outlet for his continued interest in math and science.

Most of Mike's free time has been devoted to the duties required of the president of the San Diego Achievers Association. Chosen "Junior Achiever of the Year" for the San Diego Area, his honors included a trip to a national convention as well as television appearances.

Kearny High Juniors have enthusiastically taken their part in making our campus an enjoyable place. By participating equally in sports, study, and school clubs, the eleventh grade will be well prepared to lead Kearny next year.

Junior Council was responsible for many of the activities that have been enjoyed this year. Among them were the snow-cone sale and the "Rhythm Rumble."

Junior Coke Committee proved to be a busy, hard working group, and a real asset to Kearny campus. They sold cokes and other refreshments at all home football and basketball games.

The bright spots in the center of the picture are clouds of gases.

The gas clouds emit no light of their own, but the stars behind them cause them to glow.

Each year the Annual Staff claims that their edition is "the best Komet yet," and there is a good reason for it. Every Senior Annual Staff member has served a year of apprenticeship as a Junior Editor. Annual Staff meets daily fourth period in Mr. Clark's art room. In the art room and in the special darkroom, the Senior Staff has spent in excess of 2400 hours producing this Komet '59, "the best Komet yet."

Mr. James Clark has been at Kearny since 1947. He had annual experience in college as Art Editor of San Diego State's DEL SUDOESTE. He has been the competent and proud advisor of Kearny's Annual Staff since the 1949 edition.

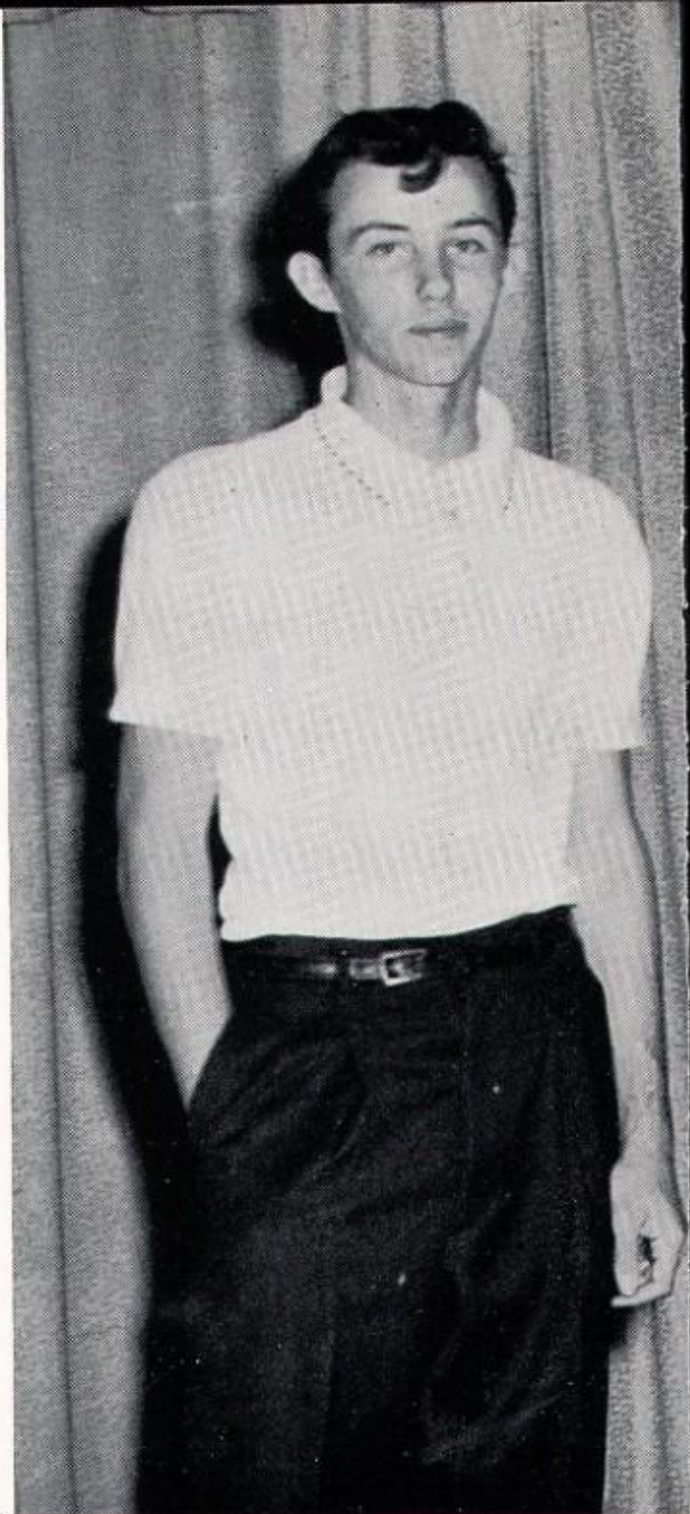

Under the supervision of the Senior Annual Staff, nine Juniors contributed to the making of KOMET '59, and learned the art of annual production. The members of the Junior Annual Staff were chosen at the end of their Sophomore year on the basis of their abilities and trustworthiness. Next year they will be the Senior Annual Staff and publish their own KOMET.

colonel of the drill units

Judy Branscom

Colonel of the Drill Units is a job coveted and vied for by many girls. There is more to being Colonel than leading the precision Drill Units on the field. The Colonel must help her advisor plan and coordinate the intricate routines the Drill Units execute. With an air of distinction, Judy Branscom, in her original one-sleeved Colonel's uniform, led our Drill Units at all home football games, rallies, and in the Toyland Parade.

Pom Pon Major Judy Story

Judy Story held the position of Pom Pon Corps Major. She marched to the right front of the Pom Pon Corps and it was her duty to give instructions and directions. Judy did a wonderful job and was an asset to the Drill Units.

Judy Herberg specialized in the rhythm section of the Drill Units. She held this important position for two years and did a remarkable job each year. Judy displayed great effort at each half-time event and her presence added greatly to the enthusiasm and spirit of the group.

Drum Major Judy Herberg

Pom Pon Captain
Rosalind Ruliffson

The position of Pom Pon Captain was nicely filled by Rosalind Ruliffson. She marched to the left rear of the Pom Pon Corps and relayed signals to the rear part of the Unit. Rosalind did a splendid job and was well liked by her followers.

Sometimes referred to as the "Little Captain" by members of the Drum Corps, Lorah Ellis did a wonderful job. Under her direction the Drum Corps responded beautifully and was always prepared for the home games and Toyland Parade.

Judy and Mrs. Heimerdinger display trophy.

The Pom Pon Corps of the Drill Units is the largest section and the center of most performances. This year the girls, in basic maroon uniforms, accented with crisp white collars, strove for perfection at each home game performance. Using fluffy white Pom Pons to outline forms and figures, the Pom Pon Corps danced to various rhythms: everything from "Patricia" to "Winter Wonderland."

The Drum Corps for the year 1958 was an exceptional group. Their versatility was displayed by their ability to recreate the sounds of Indian tom-toms in addition to the sixteen standard cadences that are a traditional part of Kearny's Drum Corps. Major Judy Herberg and Captain Lorah Ellis led the girls at each home half-time event.

Kearny, in the 20th Annual Football Carnival, beat Point Loma 6-0, for the only East side score. In the thrilling contest with San Diego, the Komets lost 25-0. This game was highlighted by brilliant defensive play. Wet weather at La Jolla helped the Mission Bay Bucs to overcome Kearny 12-6. Kearny rallied against the favored Hornets of Lincoln to win an 18-13 victory. Unsurpassed passing displayed by Kearny kayoed Hoover 34-25. In the inaugural battle with the Crawford Colts, the inspired Kearny eleven fought hard and won 27-0. Again the sizzling Komets clashed with the La Jolla Vikings and overpowered them, with the final score 25-6. For Kearny's Homecoming, the fighting Komets held their own for awhile against St. Augustine but later the Komets had 19 points scored against them to make the tally 33-13. Kearny spoiled Point Loma's Homecoming game by handing them the short end of a 20-7 tussle. The Yuma Criminals pleased their Homecoming throngs by downing the Kearny eleven, who didn't seem up to the occasion, 21-6.
